SEVERAL IMPORTANT MATTERS WILL COME UP ABOUT

Our Thoroughfares Tonight—Committee Will be Appointed to Confer With Judge Sanders About Revising Ordinances.

Several important matters will come up at tonight's council meeting.

Mayor Lang will present an ordinance for a road from Banner's mill to Broadway, along the line of the old city limits. The thoroughfare through Huntington row is owned by the Illinois Central, and Mayor Lang says the city has never obtained permission to improve it, and the people in that locality are very much displeased with its condition in bad weather, and blame the city for it.

An ordinance will also be brought in for the improvement of Twelfth street south of Jackson.

A committee will be appointed to investigate the advisability of a street from the terminus of Trimble street across to Fourth, which will necessitate a fill. Also the improvement of Clay street from Thirtieth to Fountain avenue.

A committee will also be delegated to ascertain who owns the circular plot of ground in Fountain avenue, and if it proves to be city property, it will be converted into a park.

Mayor Lang will appoint a committee to confer with Police Judge D. L. Sanders and Prosecuting Attorney J. Wheeler Campbell relative to revising the city ordinances. Mayor Lang stated that a large number of ordinances are not enforced because it is claimed they are technically unconstitutional, and it is his desire to have on the ordinance books only those that can be enforced. With a view of eliminating those not constitutional the conference with the judicial department will be recommended.

CLOSE CALL OF MRS. GRASTY, WHO TOOK ARSENIC, YESTERDAY.

Mrs. Grasty, the venerable mother of the Messrs. Grasty, the grocers, made a mistake yesterday morning at her home on Jefferson, between Fourth and Fifth, which nearly cost her her life. She poured out a dose of what she supposed was paregoric, and in swallowing it discovered a peculiarity in taste which prompted her to more closely examine the bottle. She found that the liquid was a strong solution of arsenic.

Dr. Alvey was hastily summoned, and by the use of the stomach pump saved her life. She soon recovered, but it was a close call.

Mrs. Grasty is about 60 years old, and a highly respected lady.

MRS. J. F. TEDDER LOSES HER ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING

Rings on the Market—One Was Recovered—Had Been Married But Two Months.

Mrs. Mary Tedder, a bride of two months, is dead at Nance's undertaking establishment. Her sudden demise yesterday was very pathetic, and quite unusual.

She was on the market Saturday afternoon late, and reported to Market Master Hays the loss of her diamond engagement ring and plain gold wedding ring, which she was carrying in her purse.

Opening the purse to pay for some fruit, the supposition is that she lost the rings. She did not miss them until the length of the market house had been traversed.

She then hurriedly reported her loss to the market master and they started back together to search for the missing jewelry.

A colored boy came up at this juncture and asking what had been lost, produced the plain gold ring. Search was made for the other one, but it could not be found.

Mrs. Tedder became ill, and sat down on the scales, thinking it was only temporary. Her illness soon became so serious that she had to be taken home in a carriage, Officer Charles Hart accompanying her.

She never rallied, living but a short time afterwards. Her husband stated she never recovered from the shock.

The deceased was 29 years old, and came here ten days ago from Jackson, Tenn., with her husband, Mr. J. F. Tedder, who is a machinist at the Illinois Central shops.

Her home was formerly in Charlotte, N. C., and she and Mr. Tedder were married two months ago. Charlotte was Mr. Tedder's home, also. She had not been in the best of health for several days past.

The remains were embalmed and will be taken to Charlotte for interment. Mr. J. H. Ramsey, of the latter place, her brother, will arrive tonight, and with the husband of the deceased accompany the remains to Charlotte tomorrow for burial.

LAST RITES

Funeral of General Harrison Was Attended By 15,000 Fellow Citizens.

HANDSOME FLORAL PIECES

President McKinley and Other Distinguished Visitors at the Grave—Many Manifestations of Respect.

THE SERVICES WERE VERY SIMPLE

Indianapolis, March 18.—In the center of a hollow square, composed of fully 15,000 of his fellow citizens, the remains of Benjamin Harrison were, yesterday afternoon, interred in the family lot in Crown Hill cemetery.

Close by the grave were the members of his family, President McKinley and other visitors of distinction and the more intimate friends of General Harrison. Back a distance of fifty yards behind ropes guarded zealously by a large force of police stood with uncovered heads the great multitude who knew him not so well as did they who stood beside the freshly upturned earth, but who honored him and admired him fully as much. It is doubtful if any public man, at least in this generation, was borne to his last resting place among so many manifestations of respect. These manifestations came from women and children, from white and black, from all conditions and kind of people.

The weather, like that of yesterday, was unsurpassable, bright sunlight—the warm breath of spring in every breeze and yet in the air a touch of winter that brought the blood to the cheek and a sparkle to the eye.

The services at the church and grave were simple in the extreme, all in most tasteful shape and well performed. At the Harrison home before the remains were taken to the First Presbyterian church, there were brief exercises for the members of the family and more intimate friends of Mr. Harrison. Possibly 150 people were present. Mrs. Harrison did not appear but remained in her room until it was time to leave for the church.

WAS HE ROBBED?

ENGINEER JOE DICKE'S DIAMOND RING AND STUD AND POCKETBOOK MISSING.

It is not known where Engineer Joe Dicke's diamond ring, stud and pocketbook are. They were not found on him when the remains were brought to the city. Engineer Dicke had two handsome diamonds and never carried less than $50 with him. He is said to have had at least $75 or $100 only a short time before the accident, probably at Fulton. His watch was taken possession of by the railroad authorities to learn the time of the accident and will be turned over to the family today.

His family hope the valuables were taken by a friend for safekeeping, and will be returned. His diamonds, especially his ring on his finger, could hardly have been lost.

THE WEATHER.

The forecast is for rain with stationary temperature.

St. Louis' Big Fire

St. Louis, March 18.—(Bulletin)—Fire which originated in the Anheuser-Busch ice houses, has burned over five acres of buildings, and the arsenal and other buildings are in danger of burning before the fire can be checked.

NEW BUILDING.

THE LACK SINGLETREE CO. FIND THEIR QUARTERS TOO SMALL.

The Lack Singletree Co. will, in a few weeks, let the contract for a brick building to be erected on their present site to take the place of the present frame structure. The building will be four stories high and very much wider than the one now used. It will be a model building in every particular and afford much more room for the rapidly growing demand these people have for space.

The business of this concern has been something phenomenal. From a small beginning they have expanded until now their plant is the largest of the kind in the country. The sales this year have been very large and many big orders, of necessity, have been turned down on account of the inability to fill them.

The product of the factory goes all over the country from Oregon on the northwest and Texas on the south to the Atlantic on the east.

ANOTHER OFFICE

Additional Dispatcher Placed Between Memphis and Fulton by Trainmaster Flynn.

IS LOCATED AT NEWBERN

Business Is Rushing on the Illinois Central—Wreck About Cleared Up at Clay Switch.

OTHER RAILROAD NEWS OF INTEREST

The business of the Illinois Central between Memphis and Fulton has so increased that it has been deemed expedient to facilitate the handling of trains, to establish another dispatcher's office, and today one was opened at Newbern, Tenn.

Dispatcher Bennett, who holds one of the tricks in the local dispatcher's office, went down at 4 o'clock this morning to take charge of the new office temporarily. It is only an experiment thus far, but if found to work well, will be made permanent.

Heretofore, all trains between Memphis and Paducah have been dispatched out of Memphis. Now they will be dispatched from Memphis to Newbern and from Newbern to Paducah.

Dispatcher Bennett's trick is held by Dispatcher J. G. Ferguson, formerly of Temple, Texas, but more recently at Princeton, Ky.

Chief Dispatcher A. J. Jorgenson, of the Central City district, has returned from Evansville.

Engineer Joe Randall, who was hurt at Obion two weeks ago, will not be able to take out a run for two or three weeks yet, owing to the injury to his right arm.

Night Haggardman R. B. Misenheimer, of the Union depot, is on the sick list.

Engineer Bob Tisdale returned to Memphis last night, after a week's visit. He came here to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, the late Mr. John Paley.

The two locomotives demolished in the head-end collision at Clay Switch will be brought here today to be rebuilt in the shops here. Some of the wreckage was brought in yesterday. The track is about clear, but it is thought several days will be required to get all the debris cleared away.

Several of the railroad boys became somewhat alarmed at the wreck last Friday and talked of quitting, which gave rise to the rumor that 25 of them had resigned. It is said that Engineer Joe Bornschein will not return to railroad. He had been thinking of going into business for some time before his recent close call. Engineer Dicke, who had amassed quite a competency, had for the past two or three years been thinking of giving up railroading.

Negotiations continue for the leasing of the Minneapolis and St. Louis and the Iowa Central railroads by the Illinois Central. The plan is to exchange Iowa Central for Minneapolis and St. Louis stock on a satisfactory basis and then turn the two roads with the single capitalization, over to the Illinois Central on a 5 per cent guarantee.

The postoffice department has issued orders requiring railroads to build heavier cars for mail carrying service. As fast as possible the roads are complying with the order and Superintendent S. P. Taft, of the railway mail service, is busy inspecting those which have already been placed in service. At present he is in Philadelphia. The purpose of the government's order is to provide better protection for railway mail clerks in cases of accidents. All the cars are being built upon specifications furnished by the government. The new cars are sixty feet long, which is ten feet longer than the old cars, and are provided with double sills of extra thickness, sheathed in steel where they are joined at the ends.

The funeral of the late Fireman Ed Hamlett took place at Fulton Saturday under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

"It's amusing how ignorant most people are about the railroad business," remarked a prominent official yesterday. "I notice one of the papers said as the operator at Mayfield was under age, the railroad would have to bear all the responsibility of the accident. Now if railroad has to bear the responsibility of accidents resulting from carelessness of any of its employees, whether they are 15 years old or 80."

"Another thing, I hear blaming the operator who may have been recently and caused an Show me the man who isn't liable to mistakes! People perhaps don't know that a railroad telegrapher has dozens of opportunities a day to make mistakes and perhaps ten times as many as people in other vocations, yet how few of them does he make! Dispatchers handle scores of trains with hundreds of lives and thousands of dollars worth of property, every day, and the operators are their indispensable assistants. Oftentimes there is as much importance attached to the delivery of a train order as the making of one, hence the faithful performance of duty without an error is more remarkable than in any other calling. People forget the thousands of times railroad men do not make a mistake in the contemplation of one error. There will be mistakes in railroading just the same as in any other business as long as railroad men are mere humans."

The Illinois Central earned gross in February $2,846,947, an increase of $212,582.

The Illinois Central is receiving bids for a new grain elevator at New Orleans to hold 1,500,000 bushels.

Former Conductor Bud O'Bryan, of Whiteville, Ky., is in the city on a brief visit. It is his first trip to Paducah since last June.

Conductor J. T. Goss, who had been attending court at Princeton, spent yesterday in the city and attended Engineer Dicke's funeral. He left last evening for Waterloo, Iowa, where he has a run on the Illinois Central.

Trainmaster J. J. Gaven, wife and children, of Carbondale, Ill., were in the city yesterday. Mr. Gaven is trainmaster of the St. Louis division of the Illinois Central.

Trainmaster J. J. Flynn, of Memphis, spent yesterday in the city.

Engineers J. J. Bornschein and Haselbrouker and Brakeman Robertson, who were injured in the wreck last Friday, are slowly improving at the railroad hospital. Engineer Bornschein will probably be able to take home this afternoon.

Proofs of photographs taken at the wreck were received in the city today.

The British and Russian Sentries Opposing One and Another—Forces Entrenched.

The Russians are Standing Firm and are Refusing to Withdraw from the Disputed Territory.

AWAIT ORDERS FROM GOVERNMENTS

Tien Tsin, March 18.—The situation between the British and Russian troops is unchanged. All efforts to arrange the difficulty satisfactorily have been unsuccessful. The sentries of the opposing forces stand face to face, and the forces are entrenched about forty feet apart. It is believed unless the St. Petersburg government interferes the Russians will endeavor to drive the British from their positions, although the former are outnumbered twenty to one.

At 4:35 Saturday afternoon Gen. Campbell offered to withdraw the British troops from the disputed territory, provided the Russians do the same. The Russian general declined because the territory is Russian and the attempted trespass of the British shows the necessity of guarding it.

BRADLEY'S PLUM.

Louisville, March 18.—Senator Deboe stated Saturday that Col. W. O. Bradley, former governor of the state, would make a good man for Judge, and intimated that he would endorse him if Pugh saw fit to quit the race. Col. Steve Sharp, of Lexington, will be appointed marshal of the new district, and Judge J. H. Tinsley, of Harboursville, will get the district attorneyship, at least Senator Deboe thinks so.

POLICE COURT.

Omer Rose, formerly of Metropolis, and Will Murray, of the city, were warranted yesterday on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. They are alleged to have sold E. H. Tolbert a bicycle for $4. They are alleged to have then demanded $3 more, and when they secured the money refused to deliver the bicycle. They had a dispute about it near Ninth and Court Saturday night and when Rose was arrested he struck Officer Hessian in the eye. He was fined $50 and costs in Judge Sanders' court this morning for resisting an officer, and he and Murray $10 and costs each for being drunk and disorderly. The felony charge against them was continued.

Alice McClure was fined $1 for a breach of the peace, Emma Jackson $1 for a breach of the peace, Hallie Jones $1 and costs for being drunk and disorderly, Jessie Mansfield $1 and costs for being drunk and disorderly, John Davis and J. A DAILY THOUGHT.
"Science is organized knowledge."
—Quotation on wall of Library of Congress.

The spring poems are now in order.
Does any one know what has become of the Commoner?

Wait for The Sun's Sunday paper. It will fill a long felt want.

Grover Cleveland finds a little time between hunts to write for the press.

With the advent of spring let us have a spring cleaning. The sooner the better.

Garbage cans would be a great improvement in Paducah. Suppose we have them?

Switzerland says the Frenchmen can't come to that country to settle their brawl.

As long as the sweepings of the streets are shoveled on the streets, dirty streets can be expected.

Now Carnegie proposes to give Pittsburg $25,000,000. Gee whizz! If Paducah had such a citizen!

Governor (?) Beckham has hied himself to Florida to think it over. Poor fellow! Some compassion should be shown him, he's young.

The old Russian bear will bruise around until he finds trouble yet. There are bees around that Chinese honey and old brum may stir them up.

Something is worrying J. Pierpont. He has postponed his trip to Europe for several days. Probably he is casting "goo goo eyes" at the government.

As an indication how nice a clean street looks attention is called to the appearance of Broadway after one of nature's wild sweeps and water sprinkling.

Chris Magee, Quay's great enemy, and a regular "political boss," at his death the past week, left $5,000,000 for the erection of a great public hospital. Charity covers a multitude of sins, indeed.

So Bryan scored a scoop when he announced we would see an emperor seated at Washington inside of twenty years? Does he think he will be in the chair? He does and has done more bossing than any one in public life for years.

After life's fitful fever, ex-President Harrison sleeps well, and the people of the United States unite in praising him who as a citizen, soldier, jurist and statesman fought a good fight and kept the faith, which one ancestor aided in formulating in the Declaration of Independence, and another upheld on battlefield and in the office of president.—Louisville Post.

If you want the news, take The Sun. The day Capt. Robinson, of Fulton, died here, The Sun told of the arrival of his fiancée, Miss Clark, who was notified of his death by telephone. Yesterday's Visitor had a clipping from a Fulton paper relative to the engagement, prefaced with the statement that it touched "a point of interest not heretofore given in the local papers." Wouldn't that jar you! The News and Visitor had better smoke up or they'll go out.

ENGLAND AND PROTECTION.
We frequently hear in these days, from Democratic authorities, that the Republicans will soon abandon their protection ideas, that a gradual movement towards that end is just perceptible. Such tommyrot! Does anyone think we will play the hen that produced the golden egg? It was through protection to her interests that this country has attained the place of the great producing and furnishing country that it is; it is undoubtedly to protection that we are indebted for the present general and great prosperity that we enjoy. Protection has enabled us to supply the wants of our own people and to get in the position we now occupy of being able to reach out and secure the greatest share of the world's market. If it is, we are told, the surest safety, England pays us a compliment in her present agitation for protection for a few of her industries.

It must come and the day is not far distant. The newspapers are agitating it, trade journals favor it and the workmen are beginning to demand it. Read what the president of the Glasgow chamber of commerce, in his last report, had to say, among other things:

"We would, however, be purlined did not see that the civilized world outside of ourselves rejects the free trade theory. It is under a system of protection, the most drastic which the world is acquainted with, that the most powerful republic of the present day has rapidly built up its industries and its national prosperity to a point that staggers credulity. Yet America's duties before her recent war tariff did not greatly differ from British duties, calculated per head of the respective populations. The fundamental difference in the two policies is that America charges on importation for what she herself produces, while this country charges upon what she does not produce. It has been suggested that did America threaten the cotton manufacturers of Lancashire by bounties, as she is now threatening the shipbuilding and ship owning of the Clyde and other British centers, it might produce a revolution in the free trade views of that district. Experience only makes the shrewd American people more enamored of protection. Experience of free trade is certainly not having that effect among thoughtful men in this country. Surely it seems possible that between these two extremes there may be a middle truth for us. Neither free trade nor protection are axiomatic principles. They are but questions of expediency."

REFREEE BAGBY
DECIDES WHAT DISPOSITION IS TO BE MADE OF KENTUCKY FURNACE COMPANY PROPERTY.

Referee E. W. Bagby, who has had under advisement for some little time the disposition of certain property belonging to the defunct Kentucky Furnace company, has issued an order that the property coming under his jurisdiction be sold March 30th. This property consists of a barge, some material and pig iron, amounting to $5,000 or $6,000, and does not include the bulk of the material stored away at the furnace, which is tied up in the civil courts and will be decided in Trustees R. G. Caldwell's suit in circuit court to determine whether or not the warehouse receipts held by local banks have precedence over other creditors.

The statement in a contemporary that Referee Bagby had decided the plant must be sold was an error. The plant is owned by entirely different persons and was only leased to the Kentucky Furnace company. The bulk of the assets of the company is not involved in Referee Bagby's decision.

BOTH FEET AMPUTATED.
PECULIAR MISFORTUNE WHICH OVERTOOK JOHN MONTGOMERY AT CITY HOSPITAL.

A double amputation was performed at the city hospital this morning by City Physician Lillard Sanders. John Montgomery, colored, who was admitted to the hospital with a bad case of malarial fever, became a victim of "dry gangrene." Both feet became hard, the circulation of blood stopped, and they had to be cut off in order to save his life. Montgomery's home is in Missouri.

CATARH CANNOT BE CURED
By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

GOLDSBY LOST.

A PECULIAR INSURANCE CASE OF INTEREST IN SOUTH-WEST KENTUCKY.

The suit of Goldsby against the Aetna Insurance company for $8,000 on a policy has been dismissed in the United States court at Memphis.

The suit was to collect $8,000 on the life of Flare Goldsby, a mail agent who was killed at Fulton by John Moore, another mail agent, who is now serving a term in the penitentiary for it.

The insurance company resisted the claim on the grounds that the policy was invalidated by a provision that it would be rendered void should the insured meet death by intended means. Evidence was introduced to show that Goldsby was intentionally killed by Moore, and the case was decided in favor of the insurance company.

TO SEEK REDRESS.

SEVERAL DAWSON SPRINGS PROPERTY OWNERS ARE MAD AT DOCKERY.

A short while back there appeared in several state newspapers dispatches of the existence of old title papers showing James Dockery's title to a greater part of the land upon which the town of Dawson Springs stands and that suit to establish the title would be instituted. The publication very naturally occasioned much comment and aroused uneasiness in the minds of those people who had invested money in Dawson realty. It is rumored now that suits will be brought by citizens of the place claiming damages which they allege to have been sustained by them on account of the Dockery publication aforesaid.

Robert R. Watts, of Salem, Mo., writes: "I have been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years and have doctored with all the leading physicians and have tried all remedies suggested without any relief. Finally I tried FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am sound and well." J. C. Gilbert.

THE WEATHER MAN.
HICKS IS A LITTLE OFF JUST NOW—THE FORECAST.

Hicks, the weather man, has missed it again, at least in this section. He says that from the 15th to 17th will be generally unsettled and unpleasant weather, while two prettier days than yesterday and Saturday could not be found.

As there are quite a number who believe in Mr. Hicks' predictions, however, it may be interesting to know his predictions for the remainder of the month, which are: "Heavy rain and thunder storms, with possible tornadoes, will visit many interior sections from the 19th to the 23d, wind up the general turmoil in northwestern, central and northern parts of the country. The last storm period runs from the 26th to 27th. March closes fair and cool."

NEW MAN.

Philadelphia, March 18.—A report is in circulation in this city that John G. Johnson, a leading member of the Philadelphia bar and one of the most prominent lawyers in the country, has been offered the portfolio of attorney general in President McKinley's cabinet to succeed Attorney General Griggs.

When asked today by a representative of the Press if he had been offered the attorney generalship, Mr. Johnson said: "I refuse to either confirm or deny the report."

Mr. Johnson is a staunch Republican, but he has never taken an active part in politics.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

"HAVE YOU JOINED THE BUFFALOES?"
Oh, never mind the weather.
Pass it up or cut it out;
The peaches may be frozen
And the wheat may fail to sprout;
Perhaps the summer's coming
With the lilac and the rose—
But here's the burning question:
"Have you joined the Buffaloes?"

Who cares to talk of China
And the troubles over there?
Who cares a rap for Cuba
Or that isthmian affair?
The one important question
That disturbs the world's repose
Is—answer and say truly—
"Have you joined the Buffaloes?"

Behold the man who staggers
Up the reeling steps at night,
And monkeys at the keyhole
Till his darling strikes a light—
Hist! Listen! What's the matter?
Oh well, everybody knows—
It's the universal story:
He has joined the Buffaloes.

Election day is coming
And the cheap cigar is here:
The book will soon be bocking
In the bookness of the beer,
And in future years the blossom
Looming up on many a nose
Will proclaim to all beholders
How men joined the Buffaloes.

THE JOKE
A variation from the usual "Englishman and joke" story was told in an uptown hotel last night. He was a young Englishman and was riding horseback with an American friend from Rye to Larchmont.

"I say, demmit, old chap," said the Englishman, "what is written on that sign by the wayside?"
"Why, it says 'private road,'" returned his friend. "You ought to go to a blacksmith and learn to read signs."

"The Englishman was interested.
"I say, old chap," was his reply, "is that a joke?"
"Of course, it is a joke; you will see it next week, if you work hard."

"Next week, ah, smartly. I'll lay you battle of wine that I see it before mawning."

The wager was taken, and by the time they had reached their journey's end the American had forgotten the wager. Not so his friend. He thought and thought, and shortly before 1 o'clock the following morning he burst into his friend's room with flying hair and radiant with elation.

"I have it, I have it!" he cried, barely able to talk. "The joke is—suppose the blacksmith was not in." He got the wine—from the New York Evening Sun.

HE RETURNED IT.
Wit has often saved an offender from punishment in military as well as in civil life.

Not long since a non-commissioned officer entering a barrack gate in Dublin was mistaken by the "fresh one" on sentry, who immediately "came to the shoulder."

The noncom, unaware that his colonel was just behind, returned the salute—a thing not permissible in the circumstances. Arrived at his quarters, he shortly received an order to attend before the colonel.

On presenting himself, he was asked how he came to return the salute, knowing full well he was not entitled to it.

Not in the least embarrassed, he promptly answered:
"Sir, I always return everything I am not entitled to."

His ready wit pleased the colonel, who laughingly dismissed him.—From the London Spare Moments.

Mr. J. W. Patterson, night police at Nashville, Ia., says: "In January I had a very bad cold on my lungs, and used half dozen different cough medicines and prescriptions from two doctors, but grew worse all the time. I finally bought a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR and after using two thirds of it, I was entirely cured." J. C. Gilbert.

THE MAN WHO GOT BEATEN.
From the Pittsburgh Post: About three miles from the town I came upon a man seated on a log by the roadside. His chin was resting in his hands, his shotgun leaned up against a tree, and he was so busy with his thoughts that he did not see or hear me until I rode up and saluted. Seeing that something was wrong with him, I asked the cause, and he got up and came out to me and replied:

"Stranger, I've bin havin' a law suit and got beat."
"And you ought to have won?"
"I had. The case was as clear as noonday. I sold a feller a mule for $40, and he paid me $25 down, and bucked the balance. I order had a verdict as such as shootin'!"
"Well, the law is uncertain."
"I reckon it is. The suit was decided agin me yesterday. I went home and got my gun and was back in town the first thing this mornin', but he had gone."

"Who?"
"The defendant. Couldn't find hide nor ha'r of him. The judge was also gone. So was the jury. So was the defendant's lawyer. Drat 'em, but they all slipped out and didn't give me no show."

"No show for what?"
"Why, what did I go after my mule for? What am I a-feller so cast down and broken up about? I was gwine to shute, of co'se, but I wouldn't wait!"
"Well, you shouldn't take it so to heart," I said, hoping to console him a bit.

"It's powerful tuff, fur I was dead right about it," he answered as he looked up the road, "but that's one little glass of hope left. The lawyer who had my case to comin' along this way this even, and I'm agwine to hold him under that shotgun till he hands me over the $10 I paid him to talk fur me! Dog-gone it, but I hain't agwine to let the hull bill's lot of 'em sit clear off without gittin' a shot in on somebody! That's human nature, and it hain't in the laws of the sovrign state of Arkansas that I should!"

THE SUN'S DAILY STORY.

THREE BRAVE MEN.

By FRANK E. DIXON. Copyright, 1901, by the Daily Story Pub. Co.

Pretty Serena Nelson would not marry. Her mother was in consternation.

"Why are you stubborn, Serena?" she asked. "You have plenty of lovers."

"But they do not suit," said Serena, coolly tying back her curls before the mirror.

"Why not?"
"I want to marry a man who is brave, equal to any emergency. If I give up my liberty, I want it taken care of."

"Stilly child! What is the matter with Big William, the blacksmith?"
"He is big, but I never heard that he was brave."

"And you never heard that he was not. What is the matter with John, the gunsmith?"
"He is as placid as goat's milk."

"That is no sign he is a coward. There is little Fred, the tanner; he is quarrelsome enough for you, surely?"
"He is no bigger than a bantam cock. It is little he could do if the house were set upon by robbers."

"It is not always strength that wins a fight, girl. It takes brain as well as brawn. Come, now, Serena, give the young fellows a fair trial."

Serena turned her face before the mirror, letting down one raven tress and looping up another.

That evening John, the gunsmith, knocked at the door.
"You sent for me, Serena?" he said, going to the girl, who stood upon the hearth, coquettishly warming one foot and then the other.

"Yes, John," she replied. "I've been thinking of what you said the other night when you were here."

"Well, Serena?"
John spoke quietly, but his dark blue eyes flashed, and he looked at her intently.

"I want to test you."
"How?"
"I want to see if you dare do a disagreeable thing."

"What is it?"
"There is an old coffin upstairs. It smells moldy. They say Ralph, the murderer, is buried in it; that devil came for his body and left the coffin empty at the end of a week; and it was finally taken from the tomb. It is up stairs in the room grandfather died in."

"Why are you so, in, and they say stubborn, Serena?"
"I want to see if you dare do a disagreeable thing."

"You nerves will have good proof if you undertake it. Remember, I was one sleep in that wing of the house."

"I shall sleep the sounder."
"Good night, then. I will send a boy to show you the chamber. If you stay until morning I will marry you."

John turned straight away and followed the lad in with a torch, and rooms and passages, up echoing stairs, along narrow, damp ways, where rats scuttled before a low chamber. The lad looked pale and scared, and evidently wanted to hurry away, but John made him wait till he took a survey by the aid of his lamp. It was very large and full of recesses which had been barred across. He remembered that old grandfater Nelson had been insane for several years before his death, so that this precaution had been necessary for the safety of himself and others.

In the center of the room stood a coffin; beside it stood a chair. The room was otherwise perfectly empty. John stretched himself out in the coffin.

"Be kind enough to tell Miss Serena it is a good fit," he said, and shut the door, leaving the young gunsmith alone in the room.

Meanwhile, Serena was talking with the big blacksmith in the sitting room.

"William," said she, pulling her hand away from the aid of his lamp. It was very large and full of recesses which had been barred across. He remembered that old grandfater Nelson had been insane for several years before his death, so that this precaution had been necessary for the safety of himself and others.

"Yes," replied the popular buxom dame, who had asked her out to lunch. "And," she continued with a flourish of her jeweled fingers, "occasionally one gets a diamond out of a lobster."—Philadelphia Press.

"People sometimes find pearls in oysters, do they not?" inquired a young girl, as the waiter placed a steaming stew before her.

"Yes," replied the popular buxom dame, who had asked her out to lunch. "And," she continued with a flourish of her jeweled fingers, "occasionally one gets a diamond out of a lobster."—Philadelphia Press.

"The devil take you!" he said, and the rats and the coffin.

Soon after young Fred, the tanner, arrived battered and hopeful, from the fact that Serena had sent for him.

"You have changed your mind, Serena?"
"No, and I shall not, until I know that you can do a really brave thing."

"What shall it be? I swear to satisfy you, Serena."
"I have a proposal to make to you."

POLK MILLER

Will Appear Here Tuesday Evening in "Old Times Down South."

One of the Most Delightful of Entertainers—Lecture Will be in Circuit Court Room.

The appearance at the court house Tuesday evening of Mr. Polk Miller, the delightful entertainer, in "Old Times Down South," will be quite a treat. In negro dialect and impersonation Mr. Miller has few equals and his stories and songs are bright and catchy. His transition from the comic to the pathetic is wonderful and his auditors are moved first to laughter and then to tears.

His lecture will be given in the circuit court room at the county court house, which is an excellent auditorium, well suited to such an entertainment and thoroughly comfortable.

The proceeds of the lecture will go to the Trimble street Methodist church. The prices of tickets are 25 and 50 cents and are on sale at Clements' and Van Culin's book stores and Soule's, Lang Bros' and Winstead's drug stores.

LAST TRIBUTE.

REMAINS OF MR. DICKE FOLLOWED BY LARGE CONCOURSE.

Burial at Mt. Carmel—Elks in Attendance.

A Friend's Tribute to the Dead Engineer—Other Funerals.

The funeral of the late Engineer Joe Dicke took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the St. Frances De Sales church, and the large concourse that attended their last respects to the dead was the most eloquent tribute that could be paid this popular young man.

The Elks took charge of the remains at the house on West Broadway and escorted them to the church. After the divine service they led the cortege to Eleventh and Tennessee streets, at which place conveyances were in waiting to convey them to Mt. Carmel, where the remains were laid to rest. The funeral was one of the largest ever witnessed in Paducah, and adequately attested the esteem in which Mr. Dicke was held. The floral offerings were very beautiful.

Mr. Ed Thomas, in Saturday's Fulton Leader paid Mr. Dicke the following touching tribute, which will find a responsive echo in the hearts of all who knew him.

"The gulf of difference fixed between a gentleman—a real man, brave, generous, polite, heroic—and the common herd is vast indeed; and when we observe an example of the former, it is hopeful, encouraging, assuring. Politeness, gentlemanliness, generosity, intent and spirit, heroism, cost nothing, but are of countless, limitless value. They are pearls that make the common clay of life sparkle; they are the sunbeams that drive away the cloudy mists that frequently over us hover; they stimulate hope and courage when otherwise we would be discouraged and hopeless.

"These reflections are occasioned by the brave heroism displayed by Engineer Joe Dicke under circumstances so trying when he met his death Friday morning. Sometimes upon the approach of death we learn to know men better and see in them some of the splendid virtues above mentioned which had not been so potent before. Mr. Dicke was well known here. He was known by the writer to be a splendid gentleman, a kind man, more willing to accommodate than to be accommodated, a gentle, kind, many man. But it remained for him to demonstrate his courage, manliness and heroism in death more than he ever was able to do in life, and this is how he did it.
